Order Instituting Investigation on the Commission's own motion into the rates, operations, practices, service and facilities of Southern California Edison Company.

Summary: On December 9, 2005, John P. Hughes of Southern California Edison Company (SCE), met with David Gamson, advisor to Cmmr. Brown, in San Francisco. Also present were Russell G. Worden of SCE and Marc Joseph, attorney for the Coalition of California Utility Employees (CUE). Worden stated that the Electric Reliability stipulation between SCE, CUE and The Utility Reform Network will ensure that SCE's capital investment is directed to the areas that are most likely to preserve system reliability at current levels. Worden stated that SCE is committed to the capital investment program and stepped-up recruitment, training and retention of employees in the Transmission and Distribution Business Unit. Worden also noted that many assets in SCE's system are reaching the ends of their operating lives and must be replaced or repaired on an accelerated schedule. Worden stated that SCE prefers the terms of the pending stipulation and observed that the pending stipulation will not be unduly burdensome on SCE.

Summary: On December 12, 2005, Marc Pocta, Program Manager of the Office of Ratepayer Advocates (ORA), met with Stephen St. Marie, advisor to Cmmr. Bohn, in San Francisco. Also present was Laura Tudisco, Staff Counsel, for the ORA. Tudisco stated that ORA is urging the Commission to adopt the proposed decision of ALJ Halligan and not to adopt the alternate decision which grants Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) rate increase for pension contributions in violation of basic due process protections. Pocta expressed his concerns that the alternate adopts PG&E's opinions as to the funding status of PG&E's pension trust without allowing other parties to express their views. Pocta and Appling noted that the appropriate level of funding is a complex policy matter that should be considered in the general rate case.

	I93-04-002	Commission Order Instituting Investigation on the Commission's own motion into open access and network architecture development of dominant carrier networks.

Summary: On December 12, 2005, Michelle Robinson, Vice President- Regulatory, Verizon California Inc. (Verizon), met with Lester Wong, advisor to Cmmr. Peevey, in San Francisco. Robinson discussed her concern that the draft decision (DD) relies heavily on facts from the SBC unbundled network element case. Robinson stated that the Commission should take care to ensure that any decision in the instant case does not rely on facts from a different proceeding addressing rates for a different incumbent local exchange carrier. In addition, Robinson expressed concern about a number of inputs used in the DD, including cost of capital, structure sharing, and fill factors.

Summary: On December 12, 2005, Jennifer Dowdell, Chief, Regulatory Relations, Pacific Gas and Electric Company, had a telephone conversation with David Gamson, advisor to Cmmr. Brown. Dowdell clarified that funding a 2006 pension contribution in 2006 rates subject to refund would result in lower costs to customers than if the Commission approved contributions for all years as part of the 2007 general rate case.

Summary: On December 12, 2005, William Booth, counsel to the California Large Energy Consumers Association (CLECA), had two separate telephone conversations with Rami Kahlon, advisor to Cmmr. Peevey, and David Gamson, advisor to Cmmr. Brown; and on the same date of December 12, 2005, sent an email message (attached to the notice) to Rami Kahlon. A copy of the email message was also sent to Peter Arth, advisor to Cmmr. Peevey. Booth informed the Commission that CLECA is concerned about the proposed decision (PD) of ALJ Kenney, specifically, the ALJ's conclusion that the CTC for both departing load and direct access customers must be calculated using the so-called 'statutory method'. Booth explained that there is a risk that the ALJ's change of method, if implemented incorrectly, could significantly increase direct access customer exit fees and destroy the concept of 'indifference'. Booth asked if it would be possible to add a sentence to the decision clarifying that the Indifference Fee calculation is not to be disturbed by the adoption of a new approach to calculation of the CTC.

Summary: LATE FILED. On December 9, 2005, Ed O'Neill, outside counsel to San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART), called and left a voicemail message for Peter Arth, advisor to Cmmr. Peevey, and on December 12, 2005, met with Peter Arth at Trader Vic's in Emeryville. O'Neill conveyed BART's concerns regarding the potential impact of the proposed decision (PD) of ALJ Kenney on alternatives available to BART for obtaining electric power. O'Neill stated that BART only recently became aware that the PD may substantially increase the cost to BART of obtaining replacement power from local publicly owned power suppliers and could effectively preclude BART from accessing such supplies contrary to the Legislature's intent in enacting SB 1201 in 2004. O'Neill urged the Commission to modify the PD to preserve this alternative source of replacement power for BART. During the December 12, 2005 meeting, O'Neill also stated that, unlike other parties potentially affected by the change the PD would make in the method of calculating CTC, the adverse effect on BART resulting from this change could not be mitigated by considering PG&E's total portfolio of electric resources in the CRS calculation because BART is not subject to other charges included in the CRS calculation.

Summary: December 12, 2005, Matthew Freedman, attorney for The Utility Reform Network (TURN), met with Robert Lane, advisor to Cmmr. Bohn, in San Francisco. Also present were Stephen St. Marie, advisor to Cmmr. Bohn, and Mike Florio, Attorney for TURN. TURN representatives discussed the proposed decision of ALJ O'Donnell and the alternate of Cmmr. Peevey. Freedman and Florio stated TURN's opposition to the alternate on the basis that it was poorly drafted, failed to incorporate any cost caps, was inconsistent with the Commission treatment for Diablo Canyon, and would place ratepayers at risk of unlimited cost overruns during the remaining life of the plant. Freedman urged to vote against the alternate.

Summary: LATE FILED. On December 13, 2005, Keith McCrea, counsel to the California Manufacturers & Technology Association (CMTA), initiated a telephone conversation with David Gamson, advisor to Cmmr. Brown. McCrea expressed CMTA's concern that the statutory CTC method set forth in the proposed decision (PD) of ALJ Kenney could be misapplied in determining the Indifference Fee for direct access (DA) customers. McCrea suggested that the PD be clarified to ensure that the Indifference Fee liability for DA customers is not affected by the adoption of a new approach to the calculation of the CTC.
